Dear Manager,

I am applying for People Operations Manager / HR Business Partner roles in Germany where operational HR rigor matters. I bring 9+ years running People Ops in high-volume, multi-shift manufacturing environments. My work sits at the intersection of the workforce ramp, HR operations cadence, and audit-ready documentation. I deliver stable hiring and onboarding flows, clean HR master data, and payroll inputs that leaders can trust.

In my current HR Senior Manager role at India Tindivanam Footwear (Fengtay India), I run end-to-end HR operations for a greenfield ramp. I staffed manpower for 12 production lines and delivered 100% planned headcount on schedule. I manage sourcing, screening, document and background verification, joining formalities, and HRMIS/MIS updates. I also tightened attendance closure controls and reduced payroll exceptions by 20%. This mix of execution and control helps plants scale without breaking compliance or data quality.

German roles often expect sharp delivery on ER, policy discipline, and continuous improvement. I work closely with operations leaders on Employee Relations, engagement, attendance discipline, and performance cycle coordination. I build SOP-aligned processes and keep records structured for audits. I have coordinated labor audits and maintained evidence packs and corrective actions, which aligns well with compliance-driven environments and works council-aware operations.

I can add value quickly by stabilizing the hiring pipeline, tightening onboarding and documentation, and improving HR reporting for leadership decisions. I am open to relocation to Germany and ready to support operations teams that need reliable workforce planning (HRP), clean HRIS data, and strong shop-floor partnership.

Sincerely,

Saravanan Rajendharan
