

Aaron Joseph Raji
Bengaluru, India (Open to Relocate to Germany)
Phone: +91 96935 66770
Email: aaronjosephraji@gmail.com
LinkedIn: Aaron Joseph

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for roles in knowledge operations, content governance, and business support within globally distributed teams in Germany. I bring over two years of hands-on experience supporting Deloitte USI's global knowledge services, where accuracy, compliance, and operational scale are non-negotiable.

In my current role, I manage the end-to-end governance of large knowledge repositories supporting international service teams. I enforce IPR and confidentiality standards, sanitize and curate high-value content, and improve discoverability across more than 30,000 knowledge assets. I work closely with structured SOPs, audit controls, and AI-assisted review tools to maintain quality while meeting tight delivery timelines. My work directly supports leadership reporting through Global Member Firm and function-specific analysis used for operational and strategic decisions.

Earlier, as a Consultant and Project Manager at CHRIST (Deemed to be University), I handled client coordination, delivery planning, and stakeholder communication across multiple engagements. I managed interns, controlled documentation quality, and kept projects aligned on scope and timelines. This experience strengthened my ability to operate across functions, manage expectations, and maintain execution discipline—skills that translate well into Germany's process-driven and compliance-focused work environments. I work best in structured, international settings that value precision, accountability, and continuous improvement. My experience aligns well with roles involving knowledge management, operations support, content quality, compliance, and reporting within global organizations operating in Germany. I am comfortable working in English at a professional level and continue to strengthen my German for workplace collaboration.

I would welcome the opportunity to contribute to a Germany-based team that values clarity, data-driven execution, and operational excellence. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Aaron Joseph Raji