Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for marketing opportunities in Germany where execution, coordination, and brand discipline matter. I bring hands-on experience across campaign support, content coordination, client engagement, and event-led marketing, supported by a BA (Hons) in Business and Marketing Management from Oxford Brookes University.

I have worked across luxury retail, agency projects, and client services in the UK and India. At Michael Kors in Bicester Village, I supported in-store marketing activity, clienteling, and launch-driven engagement for international customers. I consistently converted footfall into repeat buyers through targeted product positioning, cross-selling, and event-focused outreach. I also supported visual merchandising and feedback loops that improved product visibility and campaign effectiveness on the floor.

Through the WPP x Ogilvy UK Career Insight program, I gained exposure to PR marketing and assistant media coordination for integrated brand and sustainability campaigns. I conducted market and competitor research, supported audience insight development, and contributed to campaign journeys across digital, social, and experiential touchpoints. I also worked on AI-led sustainability concepts, aligning messaging with channel strategy and brand objectives.

Earlier, at Qwicket, I supported client services delivery for consumer and lifestyle brands. I coordinated briefs across internal teams, tracked milestones, and produced structured research and reporting to support campaign planning and content calendars. Alongside this, I have led and supported large-scale student-led marketing and PR initiatives, handling communications, promotions, logistics, and partner coordination for high-visibility events.

I work comfortably with CRM platforms such as HubSpot and Salesforce, prepare clear presentations and reports, and collaborate across cultures and functions. I bring strong organisational skills, commercial awareness, and a practical approach to marketing execution. I am open to marketing roles across brand, campaign, content, PR, and event functions where structured support and reliable delivery are valued.

I am open to relocating to Germany and am eligible for Skilled Worker visa sponsorship. I would welcome the opportunity to contribute to your marketing team and discuss how my experience aligns with your current needs.

Sincerely,

Tanisha Kiran
