Dear Hiring Manager,

Operations teams run on clean data, fast decisions, and tight follow-through. Across business operations and compliance operations, I've built reporting systems that make day-to-day execution measurable - KPI reporting, MIS reporting, and status dashboards that leaders can trust without chasing clarifications.

In my current role at Swan Pipe Support, I own operations reporting and commercial support for 20+ weekly inquiries across vendor research, quotation preparation, order conversion tracking, and dispatch-aligned follow-ups. Excel trackers (Pivot Tables, VLOOKUP, structured validations) and basic Power BI views help keep quote-to-order movement visible, expose delays early, and reduce rework. I also maintain supplier comparisons across price and lead time, supporting cost-effective procurement decisions while keeping documentation consistent for internal reviews.

Previously at Aparajitha Corporate Services, compliance delivery demanded accuracy and speed across renewals, audit support, risk/issue tracking, and portal-based submissions. Document control trackers and MIS status reporting improved closure discipline and reduced missed deadlines by 15%. That work strengthened how I communicate risks, drive ownership across stakeholders, and keep "audit readiness" practical - clear evidence trails, not last-minute fire drills.

Germany roles in Operations Analyst / Business Operations / Commercial Operations / Reporting (Berichtswesen) align strongly with my strengths: structured reporting, Prozessoptimierung, stakeholder management, and execution control across cross-functional workflows. I bring Advanced Excel, Power BI, and hands-on SAP exposure (inventory/dispatch support), along with English (C1) and German (B1) to collaborate in mixed-language environments.

Sincerely,
Antony Lawrance
