Dear Hiring Manager,

As a multimedia journalist reporting across television, radio, and digital, I bring experience from newsrooms in the United States, the United Kingdom, and India, and a clear interest in contributing to journalism in Germany. Over the past four years I have focused on political and social impact stories, combining field reporting, on-camera work, and digital storytelling to serve diverse audiences.

Currently I work as the Washington correspondent for Nexstar Media Group's Vermont stations, filing daily packages and live shots from Capitol Hill and other federal beats. This role demands fast, accurate reporting on Congress, elections, and policy decisions, and it requires clear explanations of how those decisions affect local communities. I report, script, shoot, and edit several packages per day as a one person crew, and I coordinate closely with producers to align story selection with audience needs. This mix of autonomy and collaboration strengthened my ability to carry a story from pitch to publication under tight deadlines.

Earlier, I developed local and community reporting skills at WAER Radio in Syracuse, where I covered city government, campus issues, and neighborhood stories for broadcast and web. Field interviews, script writing, and audio editing in Adobe Audition formed the core of that work and gave me a strong foundation in radio storytelling. Before moving to the United States I worked as a Digital Content Editor at PeekTV India, where I produced social first explainers, launched a recurring series on violence against women, and helped grow the Instagram audience from 15,000 to 100,000 in a short period through sharper hooks, visuals, and posting strategy.

These experiences built a profile that combines political reporting, social impact storytelling, and audience awareness. My academic training in Broadcast and Digital Journalism at Syracuse University and Journalism and Communications at Cardiff University supports this with a strong grounding in media law, ethics, and multiplatform production. I also study German and hold English C1 and German B1 level skills, and I am ready to relocate to Germany for the right newsroom or digital video role.

I would welcome the opportunity to contribute to your coverage with rigorous reporting, clear scripts, and multiplatform packages that connect complex issues to daily life. I am happy to share my video reel and discuss how my experience as a DC correspondent and digital producer can support your editorial goals in Germany.

Sincerely,
Deepanjali Sharma
